1. PROBLEM STATEMENT

Evidence of Tulare County's ever-increasing problem of driving under the influence of drugs and alcohol is plentiful.

According to the California Highway Patrol's SWITRS reports, in Fiscal Year 2017/2018, there were 22 victims killed in DUI collisions, nearly triple the number of victims (eight) in FY 2014/2015. SWITRS reports also revealed that between October 1, 2014 and September 30 2018, 1,085 victims were injured in DUI collisions in Tulare County, and a whopping 72 victims were killed over this four-year time period. Finally, SWITRS data showed that in 2018, of all 72 fatal vehicle accidents that occurred throughout Tulare County, 31% involved DUI of drugs and/or alcohol.

Arrests are up again this year: the California Department of Motor Vehicles' 2017 Annual Report of the California DUI Management Information System indicated that in 2015 (the latest data available), although our neighboring counties' total number of arrests decreased from 2014 totals (Fresno County had a 10.7% decrease, and Kings County a 4.4% decrease), Tulare County had a slight increase, with 2,957 arrests. The DUI MIS report also showed that per capita, Tulare County has more DUI arrests than the 17 largest California counties, including Los Angeles and San Diego Counties.

An analysis of the Tulare County District Attorney's DUI data in our DAMION database disclosed that in FY 18/19, 2,371 DUI cases were filed – 117 more than the previous year. Also, while the number of alcohol only cases filed in FY 18/19 dropped by six, during that same time period, the number of drug only cases filed increased by 14, and the number of drug/alcohol combination cases filed increased by an astounding 109 new cases. DUI fatality cases continue to be an issue. Four new cases in 2019 resulted in the deaths of eight people.

Statistics such as these underscore the need to continue operating the Alcohol and Drug-Impaired Driver Vertical Prosecution Program.
